

The Power of The Virtual Team

You can exponentially grow your revenue, your results and make a much greater impact on the world than you can do alone. There will be many jobs you hate to do or don't do well that if you continue to do them, you will get burned out, make mistakes and miss golden opportunities because you are focused on the WRONG THINGS in your business. It bears repeating, You are ready to start building your team when you are ready to start making more money, taking more time-off from your business (perhaps to travel with your family), and become passionate again about the THING you envisioned when you first quit your J.O.B. and ventured out on your own. All time has value: and the way you think about time and think about yourself will affect everything that happens to you inside and outside your business for the rest of your life, in short, you have to value your time before anyone else will. ~ Rich Schefren, Author, Internet Business Manifesto How Virtual Teams Catapult Your Results, Increase Your Sanity and Free Up Your Time This spring I spent two weeks in Turks and Caicos sipping umbrella drinks and playing beach volleyball. The best thing about this vacation was that I made more money that month than I had all year. My team handled everything while I enjoyed my two- week vacation. --Alexandria Brown, The Ezine Queen
